Interest is calculated daily. If you don't pay your balance in full, we'll charge you interest from the date we add the transaction to your account. We'll keep charging interest until you've paid off your balance in full. So the longer it takes you to pay back the balance, the more interest you'll pay.
Allocation of payments	We'll use any payment you make (or part of it) to pay off any arrears first, before applying it to anything else. Arrears means any overdue payments, fees, interest and charges. If you don't pay your balance in full in any month, we'll apply your payment to balances that are already on your statement before we apply them to any new transactions. We'll apply your payment to amounts on your statement that we charge the highest interest rate on before we apply them to amounts charged at lower rates or zero interest. Please see your terms and conditions for further information. Because payments are applied first against transactions already shown on your statement, if you want to pay off a recent transaction (for example, a cash transaction), you'll need to pay off the balance shown on your statement first.

Payment information

What's a recurring transaction?

A recurring transaction is a series of regular payments which you agree can be collected from your credit card by a supplier of goods or services. For example, for insurance cover or a magazine subscription. You'll have an agreement with the supplier about it.

Direct Debits and standing orders aren't recurring transactions. That means the Direct Debit Guarantee doesn't cover recurring transactions.

If you've authorised a recurring transaction, the supplier can keep taking payments from your account until you tell them or us to cancel it.

If you want to cancel it, you can ask us to do so at any time up to 4:30pm on a business day, or up to 2:30pm on a non-business day. The recurring transaction will be cancelled on the next business day. A business day is Monday to Friday, except bank holidays in England.

Because recurring transactions are taken by the supplier, you should also contact them to cancel it.

If a recurring transaction has been cancelled, but the next payment is still taken from your account, we'll refund this amount. The refund will include any charges or interest related to the payment.
